MASS MEETING AT HOME WAREHOUSE

Will Discuss School Bonds—Children Parade—Colored Committee At Work

The $80,000 school bond election will be discussed at a big mass meeting at the Home Warehouse tonight.

Arrangements to this effect were made following the parade of the school children this morning and it was decided to postpone for the present the meeting which was to have been held at the Second Christian church tonight. Due notice will be given later of a meeting there.

There will be a number of speakers on hand and the entire question of the building and location will be gone over.

The school children's parade in favor of the bonds was an attractive and interesting feature Friday morning. Few realized that there were so many little children attending the public school in Richmond. The parade was headed by the Leeds brass band, which made some fine music on its first public appearance. The youngsters carried banners urging the people to vote for their interests, to give them grass to play on and not cinders and other such notions showing their preference for the Madison Hill site for the great new school which is proposed to be erected in Richmond if the bonds carry.

The colored citizens who realize the needs of the community have organized a campaign committee to work for the bonds, and several of their leaders are predicting a great majority of the colored vote in their favor. Rev. Green B. Miller, chairman of the committee, handed the Daily Register the following about their meeting, committee and plans, which will be read with interest by the white voters. It was as follows:

A mass meeting was held at Methodist church (colored) last Tuesday night, June 7. Rev. Green B. Miller was called to the chair. The object of the meeting was stated by the chairman. The principal speakers on the occasion were Mr. John Noland, Chairman of the Board of Education, Dr. Telford, Miss Belle Bennett, Mr. C. C. Wallace and others. The question was earnestly discussed pro and con, by which much light was turned on the principles of the school bond issue. Since which time a campaign committee was appointed to canvass the city, especially among the colored voters, for the support of said bonds, to erect and improve the school buildings in the city of Richmond.

The campaign committee has called another meeting to be held at the St. Paul A. M. E. Church Monday night, June 20th, at 7:30 for the benefit of the school bond issue. All concerned are invited to be present.

The following persons have been requested to address the voters on the occasion, Mr. James A. White, Mrs. Maggie B. Wilson, Mr. E. M. Embury and others.

Green B. Miller, Mrs. H. A. Gholston, E. M. Embury, Brutus Chenaunt, Maggie B. Wilson, J. S. Hathaway—Committee.

NEW DRY LEADER WEDDED GARRARD GIRL

Hillsboro, O., Editor Named To Succeed Kramer, Married "Keg" Mason's Daughter

Dispatches from Washington say that Major Roy M. Haines, of Hillsboro, Ohio, has been named by President Harding to succeed Kramer. The appointment of Haines will be especially interesting to Kentuckians in the fact that his wife was before her marriage Miss Katherine Mason, of Lancaster, Garrard county, Ky., a daughter of the late W. B. Mason, known to his friends as "Keg" Mason, for years circuit clerk there and an uncompromising democrat as his son-in-law is a republican.

Major Haines is a native son of Hillsboro, O. He was born 39 years ago, August 31, 1881. He is editor of the Hillsboro Dispatch, chairman of the Highland County Red Cross, and Manager of the Dry Federation. Major Haines for three years was head master of Miami Military Institute at Germantown, Ohio, teaching the departments of literature, economics and history.

Major Haines in January 1917 announced for Harding for President. In 1920 for years having been a close friend of Mr. Harding and supporter in all previous campaigns, he was very active in the Chicago convention.

BARDSTOWN BOOZE NABBED IN DANVILLE

Danville, Ky., June 10.—A sensation was created here Wednesday night when Ogden Stiles, member of a wealthy Bardstown family, was arrested charged with transporting and having liquor in his possession.

Appearing before U. S. Commissioner W. S. Lawwill this morning, Stiles' bond was fixed at $10,000, which he gave for his appearance before the commissioner at 10 o'clock a. m., Friday.

Noticing an Essex car being driven through the streets last night at a speed not just to his liking, Deputy Sheriff Sam Fox followed the driver, who halted near the Centre College campus. When the deputy approached it was noticed that several young men hurriedly left the car. Upon examination nine quarts of red whisky were found hidden in a coffee sack in the car, one bottle had been broken and it was the smell of the liquor that caused officers to make the search of the car.

The car as well as the whisky was seized and Stiles lodged in jail for the night.

FINE TRIBUTE TO VIRGIL HYLAND

His mother, Mrs. Marcus Hyland, of Estill avenue, has received an appreciated letter from Lt. John B. Murphy, battery commander of Private Virgil Hyland, who was killed at Camp Knox in an accident last week. Full details are given of the accident and the officer testifies to the high standing and esteem in which the young soldier was held, making the statement that he was the best soldier in the battery. The letter will be read with much interest by his many friends here at home. It says:

Battery B, 81st F. A., Camp Knox, Ky., June 3, 1921.

My Dear Mrs. Hyland:

Your son, Private Virgil Hyland, Saddler, Battery B, 81st Field Artillery, died this morning as a result of injuries received while his regiment was on maneuvers May 31st, to June 3, 1921.

At 10:30 on the morning of June 2, the first battalion left its firing position to move back several miles to a small town called West Point. The country was very rough and hilly. About 11:45 a. m. after the battery had marched several miles we came to a sharp turn in the road with a large tree on the inside of the turn. This made the turn very difficult as there were four pairs of horses in tandem on this particular carriage. Hyland was riding on the battery wagon, a large wagon containing store spare parts for the guns, and saddlers' equipment. This wagon was marching at the rear of the column. I was at the head of the column. I noticed after the battery had straightened out that his carriage was not following. I halted the battery and took the announcer back to find that the battery wagon had turned over and hurt Hyland to what extent I did not know. He was loaded in the ambulance and rushed to camp. He arrived at camp at 3 p. m. Apparently he did not suffer much for he did not complain. The entire battery and myself offer our sincerest condolences. Hyland had not an enemy in the battery and from all I have seen he was loved by everyone.

I have been his battery commander for nearly a year, and it is my opinion that he was the best soldier in the battery. The battery will suffer a great loss because of this fine young soldier's death. Again I send you my deepest sympathy to you and the rest of his family.

The remains will be shipped at 8 o'clock in the morning. His brother and a sergeant will accompany the body.

Very sincerely,
JOHN B. MURPHY,
1st Lt. 81st F. A., Commanding Battery B.

Shall We Live Again?

Victor Hugo's great soul found utterance in his later years for these thoughts which will find an echo in many hearts:

"I feel in myself the future life. I am like a forest once cut down; the new shoots are stronger and livelier than ever. I am rising, I know, toward the sky. The sunshine is on my head. The earth gives me its generous sap, but heaven lights me with the reflection of unknown worlds."

"You say the soul in nothing but the resultant of the bodily powers. Why, then, is my soul more luminous when my bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart. I breathe at this hour the fragrance of the lilacs, the violets and roses as at twenty years. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies of the worlds which invite me. It is marvelous, yet simple. It is a fairy tale, and it is history."

"For half a century I have been writing my thoughts in prose and in verse; history, philosophy, drama, romance, tradition, satire, ode and song; I have tried all. But I feel I have not said the thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave I can say like many others 'I have finished my day's work.' But I cannot say 'I have finished my life.' My day's work will begin again the next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight, it opens on the dawn."

Only A Newspaper Guy

I see a man through the jam in a hall,
Take a seat with the speakers and chat with them all;
"Is this Harding?" I asked, that the crowd thus defies.
"No," says some one, "he's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man pushing his way through the lines
Of cops, where a bright fire glimmers and shines;
"Chief Daugherty," I ask, and a fireman replies
"Oh, no, why that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the doors of a show
Where great crowds are blocked by the sign, S. R. O.
"Is that Nat Goodwin himself that no ticket he buys?"
"Well hardly, he's just one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man knock on a President's door,
And the sign "No Admittance," completely ignore;
"Is that Morgan, that privacy's right e defies?"
"Morgan, shucks, it's just one of them newspaper guys."

And some day I'll walk by the great streets of gold,
And see a man enter, unquestioned and bold;
"A saint?" I'll inquire, and old Peter'll reply:
"Well, I should say not, he is a newspaper guy."

BURLEY BODY IS ENLARGED TO 29

Organization Committee of Co-operative Association To Have New Members

WILL REACH EVERY COUNTY

Louisville, Ky., June 7.—Enlargement of the Organization Committee of the proposed Co-operative Burley Marketing Association from five members to twenty-nine was announced here today.

The new members are:
J. N. Kehoe, Maysville; Desha Breckinridge, Lexington. T. S. Burman, Richmond; Harry Giovannoli, Lexington; Samuel Clay, Paris; Chas. N. Manning, Lexington; William A. McDowell, Lexington; N. C. Ridgeway, Falmouth; the Rev. John F. Knue, McQuady; Shelby T. Harrison, Lexington; Joseph E. Robinson, Lancaster; Miss Sunshine Sweetner, Lexington; E. J. Curtis, Richmond; Johnson N. Camden, Versailles; Dr. Frank L. McVey, Lexington; W. A. Clements, Springfield; Edward Bissett, Lexington; Louis L. Neale, Richmond; J. Quincy Ward, Cynthiana; Price Headley, Lexington; Walter Bennett, Richmond; H. B. Hanger, Jr., Richmond; L. A. Faust, Elizabethtown, and Fred G. Stiel, Lexington.

The original five members of the Organization Committee, who will remain as an Executive Committee of the larger body, are:

Judge Robert W. Bingham, chairman; W. E. Simms, Versailles, John T. Collins, Paris; James C. Stone, Lexington, and Ralph M. Barker, Carrollton.

The enlargement of the committee marks the first step of the movement to spread the organization to the individual counties. This will be continued as quickly as possible by the appointment of local chairmen and committees, to organize each county. "At this date, Lexington and Richmond are the only centers which have been completely organized, but others are expected to do so during the next two weeks."

The function of the Organization Committee as it exists at present is to carry the contract of the association to the individual grower. This contract was offered to the growers for the first time at Carrollton June 4. At this time more than 1,335,000 pounds were signed up for the association.

The contract will be offered to the growers at meetings the week of June 13, which will be addressed by Aaron Sapiro and Judge Bingham. It is probable that from the points where Mr. Sapiro is to speak organization will spread. Bankers, growers and other leaders in each community interested in the welfare of the growers hold meetings this week with Mr. Stone and Joseph Passonneau, organization manager, to explain the details of the co-operative plan and to arrange reception for Mr. Sapiro's meeting.

It is expected that in the next two weeks county organizations will be perfected and the active Sign-Up Campaign brought home to every grower.

Wallace Bruce Amsbury, poet and interpreter, will give a delightfully unusual lecture-mecital at the coming Redpath Chautauqua. His subject will be "James Whitcomb Riley, Poet-Seer of Lockerbie Street."

With the spirit of a poet and the keen insight of the interpreter, Mr. Amsbury renews for his audiences the elusive charm and wholesome humor of the beloved Riley. All the whimsicality of Riley and his keen, understanding large-heartedness are drawn with fidelity, brilliance and sympathy in Mr. Amsbury's interpretations.

HOW TO REDUCE VARICOSE VEINS

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it at home as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is very concentrated and a bottle lasts a long time—that's why it is a most inexpensive treatment. It has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country and is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and always bear in mind that anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Varmint Got 69 Turkeys

The Lancaster Record says that Miss Belle Leavell, who lives near Hyattsville, and who is among the champion turkey raisers of the county, suffered severe inroads on her flock from some unknown cause last week; something, presumably a varmint of some description, made way with 69 young turkeys in one night. The loss is a severe one as the young turkeys were about the size of a frying chicken, and as they had passed their most critical stage, it is reasonable to suppose that the bulk of them would have reached the market this fall where they would have netted Mrs. Leavell a neat sum.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS
Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use.

Mrs. Carrie Long, 140 Tates Creek avenue Richmond says: "A few years ago I was down with kidney trouble and for two months I suffered so I couldn't straighten my back or turn over in bed I was so helpless. Every time I moved the pain was so severe I would scream. My limbs and joints were stiff and swollen I had dizzy, swimming sensation in my heads and objects floated before my eyes. My kidneys acted irregularly and although I tried all sorts of remedies I was not benefited until I was finally told of Doan's Kidney Pills by a friend. Doan's soon cured me of all signs of the trouble and I was able to do my work. My back was well and strong." (Statement given November 20, 1916).

On March 1, 1921, Mrs. Long added: "It has been a long time since I have needed Doan's Kidney Pills. Should I ever again need a kidney remedy I would certainly take Doan's."

Here's Ideal Girl As Pictured By Man Engaged Three Times
Chicago, June 10—What type of girl appeals to a wholesome boy? What things do boys object to? What qualities has the ideal girl?

Floyd Brown, director of the Young Men's Club of Lake Forest, who says he has had lots of experience with girls, having been engaged three times before he married, answered all these questions.

"Boys do not like girls who talk loud, chew gum in public, powder their noses or cross their legs in public, or flirt with other men while under escort," he said. "They like silk stockings and shapely legs, but girls who exhibit them do not make much of a hit."

"Paint and powder may help at times, but a boy likes best the ruddy complexion. He likes a girl who snuggles up to him in dancing, but doesn't respect the girl for it. He doesn't care for the clinging vine type. He wants a girl who can cook, who is economical and thrifty and who has an interest in children; a girl in a clean dress, one with a smile and pleasant greeting."

"I can tell you from my own experience why some young women do not attract men."

"There was one girl who was ways losing buttons. It made me nervous. Another spooned with everybody. A third swapped letters with other girls."

"I knew another girl who was sympathetic, who understood. She was quite attractive. That is what the ideal girl should have—understanding and sympathy. The golden girl is cheerful. She is not an angel, she has plenty of faults, but she is lovable. She is not a reformer. She is a good listener. She has self-respect. She doesn't have to be pretty, though good looks add a certain charm. She is not a gossip, but everybody confides in her."

"Always have a bright face wear a smile, clean dress for your husband when he comes home. Never let him see you in an untidy kimono and with your hair awry."

GREAT CROWD ATTENDS LUNSFORD'S FUNERAL
The body of Rev. James Lunsford, pastor of the Ruckerville church, and father of Mrs. Willis Moores, of Richmond, was laid to rest at Bearwallow, in Madison county, Tuesday, following impressive services at the church there. The church was crowded to its capacity and still only about a third of the crowd could be accommodated. Rev. Lunsford was about 65 years old, and was a consecrated Christian gentleman. He had helped to erect many churches, and on some occasions helped to build the structures with his own hands.

The following tribute has been sent to the Daily Register:

A Tribute to Our Dead Leader, Bro. Lunsford, Pastor of the Ruckerville Church.
By John W. Epperson
Our dear old leader is gone.
The one we've learned to love;
Gone with the angels,
Gone to Heaven above.

Gone to sing with the Angels,
Gone to meet with Paul;
Gone to be with Jesus,
The Savior of us all.

He's been a commander in God's armies,
He's carried God's banner through;
He's called for volunteers,
Now he'll be pleading there for you.

After your battles are all over,
And you've reached the promised land;
Here you'll find the faithful old commander,
Holding out his hand.

A man with a resolution,
It makes a vacancy in this church,
To serve his God or die.

He has lead a mighty charge,
He has heard the battle cry;
He has won a glorious victory,
Altho he had to die.

We hate to give him up,
Though we know it was God's will,
It makes a vacancy in this church,
That will be hard to fill.

We will miss his kind face,
We will miss his powerful sermons,
And also miss his prayers.

Another truly great life has been closed. June 3, 1921, at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Elder James Lunsford, of Berea, answered the final summons of his great commander in-chief and stood in the presence of the Great King to give an account of his ministry that had covered a period of over forty years.

James Lunsford was born in Jackson county, Ky., July 24, 1859. At an early age he united with the Church of Christ. His life speaks for his faithfulness to the cause he loved. Forty years he has given to evangelistic work in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, with the exception of 1907, when he had charge of the church at Longview, Illinois.

Having served as Judge in Jackson county, he was familiarly known by his friends who were numbered by his acquaintances.

No association but that he has been able to leave an imprint of the spirit of God on the individual life; no home that he has entered but that he has been faithful to his Master in pointing out the better way and has given a greater incentive to find a clearer conception of man's duty to God.

The greatest tribute that could be paid to his life are the words of one who knew him and his work. Funeral services were held by Berea Lodge, No. 617, F. & A. M., of which he was a member, at Dreyfus, Ky., June 7, 1921.

SAYS WOMAN MAKES A GOOD OFFICER

(By Associated Press)

Pikeville, Ky., June 10—There is no more danger for a woman in taking a convict to the penitentiary than for a man and a woman should be as good a deputy sheriff as any man, is the opinion of Mrs. Jake Morris, of this city, who had the distinction of being the first woman in Kentucky to take a male prisoner to the state penitentiary. Mrs. Morris last week saw Jesse Stiltner safely incarcerated in the state reformatory at Frankfort to serve a sentence of two years for housebreaking.

Mrs. Morris, the wife of Jailer Jake Morris, of Pike county, took Stiltner to the reformatory without incident, according to her own story. She kept the mountain "bad man" handcuffed until the station at Frankfort was reached but took off the shackles when they reached the railroad station and took him through the streets of the capital without his being manacled in any way.

"There was nothing to it except a tiresome trip," Mrs. Morris said on her return here. "I took no chances a good officer should not take and arrived without incident. I kept the prisoner handcuffed while on the train but on arrival at Frankfort unshackled him and walked thru the streets with him. I always kept my gun handy, however."

Another woman arrived at the prison on the same day and at about the same time, with a woman convict, but she was accompanied by another deputy. Mrs. Morris, however, was not accompanied by anyone except her prisoner.

Cut This out and Take it with You

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort he takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

RUMANIAN ROYALTY TO VISIT AMERICA

(By Associated Press)

Alba Julia, Transylvania, June 10—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, of Rumania, will be crowned here September 24. Plans are now being made for the erection of a church for use in the religious service of the coronation and in memory of the great battles which brought Greater Rumania into being. The church, it is expected, will serve for the crowning of all future kings of Rumania.

On the outskirts of this little Saxon town, where five hundred years ago Michael the Brave, Rumania's George Washington, scored a victory over the Hungarians, a monumental arch, with reliefs commemorating events in Rumanian history, will be erected.

King Ferdinand and Queen Marie have occupied the Rumanian throne nearly seven years, having succeeded the late King Carol in October of 1914; but on account of the war they never were formally crowned.

It is expected that soon after the coronation, the King and Queen will visit the United States.

DO YOU PRODUCE SORGHUM MOLASSES?

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., June 9—The Kentucky State Department of Agriculture is trying to ascertain who grows sorghum cane, how many acres they grow and how much sorghum molasses they produce, it was announced here today by State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna. The department also is trying to ascertain who owns and operates mills and what the output of each is.

The fact that Kentucky ranks third in the production of sorghum molasses recently was disclosed in a report by the United States Department of Agriculture. Only Alabama and Mississippi rank ahead of it. The report shows that Alabama last year produced 8,910,000 gallons of syrup; Mississippi 6,480,000 gallons and Kentucky 4,845,000 gallons. Kentucky in 1920 had 51,000 acres devoted to the raising of sorghum cane.

"Well, Tanlac soon relieved my troubles and built me up to where life was worth living and it has been my standby ever since. I keep Tanlac in the house all the time, and when I feel myself getting a little run down it soon has me feeling right again. It always invigorates me and keeps me feeling fine. BURLEY 'SIGN-UP' STARTS IN RUSH

Big Growers First To Join As 1,395,600 Pounds Are Pledged First Day

DRIVE NOW IN BLUEGRASS

Carrollton, Ky., June 4.—Growers of more than 1,395,600 pounds of burley tobacco signed the contract of the proposed Co-operative Burley Tobacco Marketing Association, at the opening meeting of the active sign-up campaign here today.

Acreage represented by the signatures was more than 1,400, with an average production of about 1,000 pounds to the acre. Two hundred and thirty-five growers signed the contract. Many more were forced to go home without having an opportunity to sign on account of lack of clerks to attend to them.

Growers from three counties in Indiana and four in Kentucky were among those who bound themselves by the provisions of the five-year contract of the association.

Three farm organizations in Carroll County made the day a special one for their members, and held special meetings on preceding days to urge them to sign the contract immediately. The Farmers' Union was represented by 70 per cent of its members. Approximate figures indicated that the percentage of the Farm Bureau was about the same. The Eureka, a secret society of farmers, had held special meetings to bring the benefits of the plan before its members.

Signing began with the arrival of the first printed contracts from Louisville, and continued all morning without interruption. By noon more than 150 growers had signed, and others were crowding to the tables faster than clerks could prepare the papers for signature.

Curtis Montgomery, Ghent, Ky., was the first grower to sign the contract. He is one of the largest producers of Carroll County, and owns about 900 acres of land suitable for raising tobacco. He stayed in Carrollton all night in order to have the opportunity to sign first.

Despite the fact that a rain the night before the meeting had made a perfect tobacco setting season, hundreds of farmers dismissed the chance in order to attend the "sign-up." By 10 o'clock in the morning, the square around the courthouse, where the signing was in progress, was crowded with farmers and their families. A constant stream continued to pour into the town during the entire morning and early afternoon, as the districts more remote from the town sent in their contingents.

At noon, after the arrival of Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville, chief speaker of the day, and chairman of the organization committee of the proposed association, a procession of growers, headed by a band and a group of growers who had signed the contract, marched from the courthouse to the scene of the barbecue and burgoo feast and the afternoon speaking. It is estimated that 2,000 farmers took part. In addition to these many had gone ahead on foot and in cars.

Following the burgoo feast at 1:30 o'clock, Judge Bingham addressed the crowd in one of the town's warehouses. Ralph M. Barker, member of the organization committee, in introducing Judge Bingham, read a telegram from M. O. Wilson, campaign secretary of the association being formed by Virginia and Carolina growers, expressing congratulations and good wishes.

Prolonged applause was given Judge Bingham's prediction that an adequate co-operative association law would be readily passed by the next session of the Kentucky legislature.

At the conclusion of Judge Bingham's address, James C. Stone, Lexington, member of the organization committee, speaking as a representative of the growers of the Bluegrass, thanked the growers of this section for the impetus they had given the campaign, and assured them that the growers of his section would not be slow to follow the example. He said that without exception every man he had consulted in regard to the formation of the proposed association, had been in favor of the movement without reserve.

Other meetings at which the contract of the association will be offered to the growers for signatures will be held the week of June 13, at Shelbyville, Lexington, Maysville, Danville, Richmond, Cynthiana and possibly other points. Aaron Sapro, attorney for twenty-two California co-operative associations and considered to be one of the greatest authorities on co-operative agriculture in the world, will address these meetings.

The following names were announced as members of the organization committee:

Judge Bingham, Louisville; Mr. Barker, Carrollton; Edward Bassett, Desha Breckinridge, Harry Giovannoli, Shelby T. Harbison, Charles N. Manning, William A. McDowell, Dr. Frank L. McVey, James C. Stone and Miss Sunshine Sweeney, Lexington; T. S. Burnam, Richmond; Johnson N. Cauden and W. E. Simms, Versailles; Samuel Clay and John T. Collins, Paris; J. N. Kehoe, Maysville; the Rev. John F.
